AGES 0-3

Names and Ages of participating children:

Rubber Ducky Readers summer reading program help parents and children build important early literacy skills in early childhood.

Early literacy is encouraging your child to love language and book and most of all, have fun!

Studies have shown that children who recognize words, sounds, and letters, and have an environment rich in letters, sounds, and listening to book enter school ready to learn.

This program will help you focus on the six early literacy skills: Narrative Skills, Vocabulary, Print Motivation, Letter Knowledge, Print Awareness, and Phonological Awareness. You and your child will practice these skills by completing activities that encourage Reading, Singing, Talking, Writing, and Playing.

How does it work? Share the activities on the back often with your child during June. Mark a duck each time you do that activity. Bring this sheet back to the library after August 1 and receive a board book.
